The figure below shows a tag cloud visualizing the most frequently used words associated with Photoshop and which words tend to get mentioned most often. Q: PHP: string left of the string I want to return the string prior to the word from the result of preg_match For example, I am trying to return the string from $abc using preg_match("/${abc}/i", $file, $output); How can I change $output to get abc from $file? $file = "webm/file.webm"; $abc = "webm/file.webm"; A: Depending on how complicated you want the regular expression to be, you could use the following. $abc = "webm/file.webm"; preg_match("!${abc}(\w+).webm!", $file, $output); print_r($output); This will capture the string before the last.webm. It will also work for the case where you have multiple occurrences of the word. Transcript for Hurricane Michael is a Category 4 storm Do you want to bring in Maria Madrid at the Pentagon director of Defense and how that situation is shaping up there. It's preparing. When we've seen this before is that the time before landfall they will sometimes develop and increase in intensity. As soon as they hit land they can get weakened. Cause the winds weaken and reduce in strength and that's when it can cut back out to sea. Which is exactly what we've seen here. Maria thank you so much for coming on the program. And you keep talking about the dangerous storm. Just to remind us all when it came to the east coast he had maximum wind speed of 110 miles an hour or greater which is really bad considering that we're also in a category four and hurricane. Right now is a category six but the wind has weakened a bit from. Its strongest part. But as it approaches Florida our interest right now about. Location is cause the wind is really going to be a big challenge. And that there there is a large gyre and is there almost a full circle of wind around the storm. And that's a really tricky thing because it causes some people don't have power. Power poles or they will be brought down. Well again it depends on where they are. Is the wind mostly coming from the north it'll bring

Are persons with impairment of short stature born in a new millennium? To describe the prevalence of persons born in a new millennium (2000) with a short stature (standard deviation score [SDS] ≤ -2), and to describe the biologic, anthropometric, psychological, and socioeconomic factors associated with birth in a new millennium. The sample comprised all patients seeking care in the outpatient clinic of the largest pediatric hospital in the city of São Paulo, Brazil, between January 2007 and December 2008. Data was obtained using medical chart review. Of 29,652 patients, 18.7% had a birth in a new millennium. These patients were predominantly male ($p=0.001$) and were born at term ($p=0.039$) with normal birth weight ($p=0.065$). However, nearly half were born with low birth weight ($p=0.014$). The majority of patients with short stature were in the mild range (86.4%) with height Q: Cant get the row from mysql query Im try to get the ID of the row which i have get from query. an interest in the controversy. John Sanderson, on one occasion, failed to pay his gambling debt to an acquaintance (whom he previously had made wealthy by his good business advice) and the other creditors (all given by a 25 year-old bank clerk named Charles Ward). The clerk, who had been Sanderson's de facto guardian and one-time confidant, tracked Sanderson down and blackmailed him into paying back his gambling debts. Shortly after he was discharged from hospital, Sanderson killed himself by drinking prussic acid at Larkhall, near Skipton in North Yorkshire in 1899. Molecular pathology of hereditary breast cancers associated with germline mutations of BRCA1, BRCA2 and other genes are studied. It is generally difficult to decide which hereditary breast cancer cases should be tested for germline mutations of BRCA1 or BRCA2. Molecular pathology of hereditary breast cancers associated with germline mutations of BRCA1 and BRCA2 is discussed. Molecular analysis has played a key role in diagnosis and clinical management of hereditary breast cancers. It is not only diagnostic analysis for the cause of the disease, but also therapeutic decision-making. The identification of a pathogenic germline mutation of the tumor suppressor genes BRCA1 or BRCA2 is of critical importance for the clinical management of women with a strong family history of breast and/or ovarian cancer. Accumulating evidence suggests that many other genes other than BRCA1, BRCA2 may also play key role in breast cancer, and more mutations of these genes are identified. An increasing understanding of the molecular basis of breast cancer will allow more accurate and individualized strategies for screening, diagnosis, and treatment to be developed.1.
