Ygoow Description: By Tom Geoghegan BBC News, Berlin The bombings continued into December A week after the 10th anniversary of the 9/11 attacks, there has been a series of plots involving suicide attacks on New York. Much of the world's media are focused on Iraq. What many are barely aware of is that the threat from Muslim extremists to American civilisation is not only in Iraq. And some of these plots have been thwarted. It is not one year since the twin US bombings in Bali that killed eight people, many of them western tourists. Since then, there have been a number of related and credible threats. The most recent is just eight days old and comes from an organisation within the United States. The man arrested in Germany in connection with the latest plot has been named as Anwar al-Aulaqi, aged 29. He is an American citizen with dual citizenship, from New Mexico. He is wanted in the US on suspicion of inciting to murder. He is alleged to have written articles, posted them on the internet and issued audio messages in which he praised the 9/11 attacks. Anwar al-Aulaqi is also suspected of playing a role in the Bali bombings in 2002, when 202 people were killed in suicide attacks on the island. A spokesman for the Hamburg prosecutor's office said they were dealing with a number of potential cases and that Mr al-Aulaqi was a person of interest, but not a suspect.
