Q: How can I tell if a PC has an ASIC miner installed? I'd like to know how to tell if a specific PC has an ASIC miner running. AFAIK, it runs as a graphics card, so I can't find it with GPU-Z. How can I tell? A: When you have a video card installed on a PC, you can usually see the card. In some cases, you may have to remove and insert it to find out. But in many cases, if you're lucky, you should be able to see the video card in a window of sorts. In my motherboard: AMD Radeon R7 330 Then there are the cards that are embedded. These are cards that have been built into the motherboard, and I can only find them if
