just installing (ie. first time) the latest version of igo primo 2.4.6 europe on my nokia 4230. I can't seem to find a download for the firmware that comes with it on the nokia site (wasn't sure if that matters). When I install, the device does not appear in my applications. - This is the official site, how do i find a download for the firmware? - I have a nokia 4230, can I do that? - Is my device firmware compatible with this? rognizze79 20-03-2019, 10:58 AM I use primo on my unlimited 25gb twilio voice & data plan. It's been better than my stock Nokia 520. I'm not a fan of igo primo, it's far too complex for me. I tried turning off one of the options but it made the phone harder to use and more times it killed the phone when I turned it back on. I'll stick with my Nokia until a company comes out with a version that is more straight forward like the jailbroken version of igo primo i4. Yes I'm part of the paid customers. I choose igo primo for the free maps and if you need a more premium service there is a monthly fee. It's still cheaper than a phone company. They have new features coming out all the time. I like a lot of the features I've used in the community version of primo including navigation base and the proximity alarm. Tmobile voice in the car is awesome. I also get over a mile of talk time every time I'm home with a SIM. I tried it on my very limited prepaid phone, a rogers elur. It was very well suited to my needs (no internet access) and free to use. I can't stand the phone like that, but I really like having it as an alarm clock. It has a very high volume and is really easy to grab and turn off. I'm all for it, if it works for you, why not? I also have a 4230, i4 and a regular 4230. All of them work well with the geo update. EllyC3 20-03-2019, 11:00 AM The firmware should be available on my phone and I will try to get to the download link. If it doesn't work
