If you are looking for a way to get your organization back under control, then here's a program that can help. If you are like many people, you are used to finding the different files you have on your computer all over the place. It is hard to remember where you put some things and soon you have so many documents that you can't remember what is where. If you have a bunch of pictures and video in your camera roll for example, all jumbled up with other things, they are hidden from the finder. No matter how you search, they are still visible in your photo files, but they are so buried that it takes you an hour to find them. We have all been there so I bet you have too. This is where the Program came in, which is designed to organize your stuff. It has three different way's that you can use. Reorder by: - Directory or location - Date - Extension Reorder by: - Data - Name Extensions: - Pictures - Videos - Documents After you choose how you want to reorder, Strawberry will open and ask you the folder where you want to put the files. It will then move them and tell you what you did. This is a great time saver because it will take about a minute to do on your average computer. It will also help you find things because it will organize them into folders and have a good browse. So like I said, organized chaos to chaos. Reorder by: - Name - Date - Extension Enter the folder location you want to put the files into. Select the files you want to move. It will then tell you what you did. Go through the entire website and locate the tool you want. I repeat, the tool you want. One of the considerations to keep in mind is how fast you need the tool to work. If you want something that operates in a blink of an eye, you are going to have to narrow down your list to the most relevant item possible. You can find the utilities you require by using the search bar at the top of the page. You type in the words you would like to find and you will see the tools that fit the bill. But things can get a little confusing when it comes to websites. It's not always easy to know how much to trust the suggestions of the search engine and how accurate the results really are. That is why it is so important to
